13. [REDACTED] and John S. Warner met with Senator Thomas Kuchel for approximately an hour and briefed him on the Soviet ABM situation. The Senator said he wanted to get the correct facts in his mind so he could focus on the real issues and make a responsible decision. He was most interested in the briefing and asked a number of pertinent questions. He had been at the White House the night before and heard Secretary McNamara discuss this question along with many other items and stated that the Agency briefing was of great assistance to him in understanding the situation. He added that he would like in the future to feel free to call on the Agency for similar assistance.
